

Global Ministerial Conference on Green Economy

19–20 October 2019, Dubai

Summary

The Global Ministerial Conference on Green Economy is designed to consolidate and to further refine the outcomes of the five Regional Ministerial Conferences and High-level Forums as well as to contribute to enhancing the bottom up, needs-based approach to the elaboration of policy recommendations aimed at further advancing the green economy agenda globally.

The Global High-level Ministerial Conference on Green Economy is further aimed at showcasing and scaling up the impact of the most successful evidence-based green economy solutions crafted and tested by countries in the various regions globally and to bring the outcomes from the region to a global platform and audience.

The Global High-Level Ministerial Conference:

- Provided high-level participants with the opportunity to present a number of concrete green economy solutions and innovative green technologies that have proven effective and could be potentially replicated.
- Served as a platform for networking and idea-generation on possible specific public-private partnerships leading to expanding green investment projects in the participating countries.
- Served as an intellectual hub for production and validation of policy recommendations to support further improvements in national-, regional-, and global-level green economy action.
